I write to object to the proposed closure of Kelvindale train station.

To justify the closure by saying that Anniesland station is a mile away and therefore is as accessible as the local station is in my opinion nonsense.

Perhaps the person who has come up with this proposal should walk from Anniesland (with shopping bags) to the top of Clevedon Road and then make a decision.

I use Kelvindale station to shop in the city centre but if the station closes I will return to out of town shopping using my car as I am sure will many others.
