

Neil Farmer

I am writing to you to express my serious concern at the proposal to potentially reduce the number of train stations on the Glasgow Queen Street to Anniesland train line.

This service is a relatively new one and Kelvindale Station is a very well used one. The numbers using Kelvindale Station appear to be rising, surely a good thing to reduce traffic in Glasgow? I use the service to travel to meetings and shop in Glasgow City Centre. Without Kelvindale Station, I would not walk to Anniesland or Maryhill but drive, either to the City Centre or an alternative out of town shopping location. Neither would be beneficial to Glasgow.

I hope that this message and the great many view of other local people are taken into account and the suggested closures on this line are abandoned. I am sure that the other residents in Summerston/etc have the same feelings and reliance on the train stations.
