I would like to oppose the closure of our local train stations, I stay five minute walk from Kelvindale train station and I use when travelling back and forward from the city centre, Anniesland station is thirty minute walk, Kelvindale station is well used, and saves using my car thus carbon friendly, so if it closes me and a lot of other commuters will go back to using their cars, causing more traffic jams, more emissions, is this really worth it, closing a station that's already there, its unmanned, so virtually costs nothing to run, only the maintenance to be up kept.
so in closing please don't close our station's
