My family and I are regular users of the link between Kelvindale and Queen Street station. I actually enjoy the journey which is something I can't always say about the irregular no. 11 bus service. My wife and I, both retired, have a daughter who suffers from various ailments, not least being MS. We all appreciate the concessionary travel to which we are now entitled and would miss this regular service. If you seek to save money perhaps a less frequent service at off-peak hours might suffice. Otherwise I fear we shall lose a much appreciated and valued service.
